

Definition and warnings:

- Blue Area This top area can be used for important elements of the design, such as text or logos.
- Red Area This area is for the opener space. Do not place important elements in this area: such as text or logos.
- Green Area This is the product's surface, keep important elements of the design within this area
- Purple Area This is the printing area. Make sure your complete design fills this area.

Position important elements such as text or logos at least 3mm away from the product area line (the area indicated by the green line) specified in the template. This is very important to achieve a smooth print and highlight important data to the user.
